

This Week's Service

Sunday, July 3rd at 10:30 am
In-Person and streamed live from the sanctuary via Zoom

Join Worship Associate Lola Davis-Jones, and Musicians Nancy Byrne, Sherrie Lemnios, Robert Jacobs, and Lee Fallon as they "Gather the Spirit". This will be our first service since Rev. David's retirement, and we would like to spend some time together in worship, gathering strength from each other for the transition ahead. This will be a service without a sermon with lots of music, singing, readings, and shared thoughts.

We hope you'll share the joy by offering your words about our journey forward. Please contact Lola at 252-202-9756 or Nancy at 252-202-9392 if you are planning to participate so that time may be allotted for all who are interested.

Fond Farewells and New Beginnings

Best Wishes! Sunday, June 26th, was a beautiful day to wish Rev. David the happiest of retirements. A bittersweet moment for all.

Working for Social Justice

Plans are in the works for a community rally to support Women's Reproductive Rights. Look for details to come in this newsletter and on social media.

UUCOB News & Notes

SUMMER HIATUS Now that summer has arrived, and we are entering a time of shared ministry after Rev. David's retirement, the worship planning committee, UUCOB Board, and transition team has decided to take a 4-week summer break after the July 24th service. A summer break is common in UU congregations.

There will be no Sunday services on:
July 31st, Aug. 7th, Aug. 14th, Aug 21st

This break will give us all a chance to rest and recharge for most of the month of August. We will restart Sunday services on August 28th with special guest speaker, Chris Sawin, of the Outer Banks Community Foundation after summer break.

The transition team will be busy behind the scenes making some improvements and changes in the sanctuary and will soon be announcing some exciting and creative approaches to our services coming your way. So, stay tuned, stay engaged, and keep checking your newsletter for updates.

UUCOB is going through many changes at this time. There is a core of dedicated congregants who have taken on the challenge of making sure that we continue to thrive. You can refer to this list HERE.

NOTE: We ALL need to step up to the challenge of volunteering now and in the future for the multiple jobs that make things happen at UUCOB.

A note from Lindsay Dubbs, Sunday Service Coordinator:

Do you enjoy welcoming visitors, friends, and members to Sunday services? Do you enjoy making service participants comfortable while they are at the meetinghouse? If so, please contact Lindsay Dubbs lindsay.dubbs@gmail.com.

We are presently seeking hospitality help for UUCOB services on July 17, Sept. 4, and into the future.

UUCOB Art Gallery News

MARK YOUR CALENDAR for July 10, after the service, when the artist will be on hand to give a talk at her opening reception.

The oil paintings hanging in the sanctuary are the work of Nancy Oelrich who divides her time between Chesapeake and Point Harbor.
