

Unitarian Universalist Congregation of the Outer Banks December 31, 2020

This Week's Service

This Sunday, January 3 at 10:30
Join Rev. David, Worship Associate

David Mohler, and Musician Nancy Byrne at 10:30 on Zoom for this Sunday's service: "The Power of Imagination".

Many of us have had experiences in the last year that we never imagined. What can we imagine for our congregation in the year to come? What visions will guide us as we come back into our building and re-create ourselves as a community in person? This service will also honor the vision and imagination of those who founded our congregation. Follow the link below to join the service live:

Rev. David's Quote of the Week

Poet Mark Doty (b. 1953) wrote:

Aren't we enlarged
by the scale of what we're able to desire? Everything,
the choir insists,
might flame;
inside these wrappings
burns another, brighter life,
quicken, now,
by song: hear how
it cascades, in overlapping,
lapidary waves of praise? Still time.
Still time to change.

As a new year dawns, it's a good time to reflect on what we desire for the year that's coming, and to consider: What part will I have in ushering in the world I want to see being born in 2021? We know that intention and aspiration are incomplete without action; so may we all consider what calls us to act for a good year to come. What is quickening in you?
